SECTOR ALLOCATION

PERFORMANCE TO 30 JUNE 2026

Indian equities entered April at a geopolitical low point, with the West Asia conflict driving risk off behaviour, oil volatility, and foreign outflows. Through June, tensions showed signs of receding, triggering a sharp rebound in sentiment, improved liquidity, and renewed sector rotation into quality and growth.

The India 2030 Fund outperformed materially, returning 15.34% for the quarter versus the BSE 500's 11.04%, with consistent strength across all major timeframes. Outperformance reflects disciplined stock selection, a quality bias, and exposure to themes with superior earnings backed by balance sheet strength.

Since inception, the Fund has compounded at 12.46% p.a. versus the benchmark's 4.99% p.a.

TOP POSITIVE CONTRIBUTORS

The India 2030 Fund benefited from a sharp rebound in names most affected by the West Asia conflict at the end of March. As geopolitical tensions temporarily eased in June, companies with meaningful Middle East exposure (Redington and InterGlobe Aviation) recovered strongly as regional revenues normalised. At the same time, pharmaceutical exporters, including Granules and Aurobindo, delivered solid gains as export demand stabilised and supply chain pressures receded.

TOP DETRACTORS

Performance was held back by Tata Steel, Hindustan Zinc, and IEX. Metals lagged as commodity prices softened and global demand indicators remained uneven, weighing on Tata Steel and Hindustan Zinc. IEX underperformed as power market volatility persisted and short term volumes remained subdued.

INVESTMENT THEMES

Themes	Drivers
Manufacturing and Commodities	Tap niche manufacturing segments, industries that are consolidating. Business models and valuations have been overlooked, as historically these have been non-performers.
External Facing Businesses	Businesses capitalizing on India's relative global strength on factors of production, cost leadership. To feed into the global supply chain, as the world's largest manufacturer runs into multiple headwinds and supply chain resilience garners traction.
Urban Consumption	Businesses aligned to wage increases in the services export economy. Businesses well-placed to capture the long-term shift of consumption from rural to urban migration.

KENNETH ANDRADE, FOUNDER, OLD BRIDGE CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

The next six months are likely to be challenging for Indian equities, with multiple pressures converging at the same time. While headline indices continue to show resilience, the underlying environment is becoming more challenging and navigating it will call for a steady approach and a bit of patience.

The quarter ended on a positive note from an EARNINGS perspective. Corporate results for Q4 FY2026 surprised on the upside, with aggregate earnings for India's top 100 companies growing 9%, compared with 6% in the previous quarter. This improvement reflects continued operational discipline, cost management, and selective demand strength, all of which helped support corporate profitability despite broader macro headwinds. While the situation in the Middle East has largely stabilised, some residual effects are still filtering through the economy. Higher input costs, supply chain adjustments, and energy linked expenses may continue to influence margins over the next few months. The farm economy is also feeling the impact of limited availability of key raw materials, which could weigh on rural demand and agri linked industries as conditions gradually normalise.

India's attractiveness as a MARKET has taken on a more nuanced shape in recent months, with resilience increasingly visible across a broader and more diversified set of sectors. One indicator of this evolving backdrop has been the rupee's depreciation, reflected in the widening gap between the NIFTY and the USD denominated NIFTY. While currency movements partly mirror earlier geopolitical uncertainty, they also point to a period where near term growth expectations are adjusting. Even so, India's underlying drivers: consumption, financial inclusion, and a widening corporate base, remain firmly in place, and the market continues to demonstrate stability despite global volatility.

GROWTH has been more measured over the last two to three years, and capex activity has been slower than usual. Private sector investment intentions have moderated, and public sector spending alone cannot deliver the next leg of expansion. This pause in fresh capacity creation has had downstream effects on job formation, industrial demand, and overall economic momentum. However, this appears to be a cyclical phase rather than a structural shift, with several indicators suggesting that confidence and investment appetite may gradually rebuild as supply chains normalise.

Equity VALUATIONS remain elevated, with the Market Cap to GDP ratio near record levels, creating a more measured setup for investors as growth moderates and margins face near term pressure. Balance sheets may need to stretch slightly to support working capital needs and, later, capex as conditions stabilise, especially with pricing power still limited across many industries. The market continues to show a selective pattern: headline indices remain firm, while several stocks are gradually normalising earlier valuation excesses. Pockets of strength remain in metals, pharmaceuticals, automotive and power linked capex, where diversified global exposure and dollar revenues offer steadier profitability.

INDIA AVENUE'S INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

Our investment philosophy focuses on three key aspects:

1. INDIA'S STRUCTURAL GROWTH

India will likely be a high GDP growth region relative to other regions given its strong fundamentals.

2. ACTIVE MANAGEMENT ADDS VALUE

Equity markets in India are relatively inefficient, allowing active fund managers to benefit from their research and knowledge relative to passive investors.

3. LOCAL EXPERTISE MATTERS

Locally based fund managers in India have an advantage relative to global investors when it comes to investing in Indian equities due to their knowledge of the local laws, business principles and overall ecosystem.
